THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The following proclamation was issued by the President to-day:

A PROCLAMATION.—At no recurrence of the season which the devout habits of religious people have made the occasion for giving thanks to Almighty God, and in humbly invoking his continued favor, has the material prosperity enjoyed by our whole country been more conspicuous, more manifest and more universal. During the past year, also, unbroken peace with all foreign nations, the general prevalence of domestic tranquility, the supremacy and security of the great institutions of civil and religious freedom, have gladdened the hearts of our people and confirmed their attachment to their government, which the wisdom and courage of our ancestors so fully justified, and the wisdom and courage their descendants have so firmly maintained, to be the habitation of liberty and justice to successive generations. Hayes, President of the United States, do appoint

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 27th, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, and I earnestly recommend that, withdrawing themselves from secular cares and labors, the people of the United States do meet together on that day in their respective places of worship, to give thanks and praise to Almighty God for his mercies, and to devoutly beseech their continuance.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the City of Washington, this 23 day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand, eight hundred and seventy-nine, and of the independence of the United States the hundred and fourth. RUTHVEN B. HAYES, By the President: WM. M. EVARTS, Secretary of State.

The Chicago preachers are working up a grant boom of their own, and are arranging to have a private handshake with him when he next visits the city.

Dennis Kearney has been fined $20 for carrying a concealed weapon. This will surprise many, who supposed that Kearney had nothing to shoot off but his mouth, and that having no muzzle couldn't be called a gun.

The dispatches from Washington announce that General Halbert E. Paine, formerly of this State, has refused the appointment as one of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia. His business interests will not allow him to accept the position.

Rev. Dr. Lorimer, in an address to Boston, last Sunday, alluded for the first time in the pulpit, to the charges of plagiarism laid at his door. He said he would soon have enough of his sermons published to show where and how he stands as a preacher, and boldly challenges his accusers to show up.

Like most of the red hot leaders who have agitated the Irish people, Parnell tries to hedge now that the conflict of landlord and tenant begins to thicken. He begins to talk lamb-like, and now denies that he ever advised the Irish tenants not to pay their rents. The boom keeps up, though, and meetings expressive of sympathy are being held in this country.

A large number of high-tiled officials are now gravely conferring together at Memphis concerning the sanitary measures to be taken there. If half the money had been spent on shovels and scavenger wagons that has been thrown away on scientific discussions, the fatality of Memphis would doubtless have been greatly lessened.

There promises to be a solid South this winter. There has been snow in Georgia already, and if the season keeps up such severity, the South will be united like the church of which the preacher said: "United?" Of course were united. We are all frozen together." If the frost would only chill some of the red hot ones it might have a good effect.

A European and American team are trying to outdo Chicago by having a six days' contest of speed on bicycles. This is somewhat of an improvement on walking matches. Anybody who can raise a pair of feet can present claims as a pedestrian; but to enter a bicycle race one must have means enough to afford friends enough to either borrow or buy some wheels to whirl on.
This will bar out a large number of the professional walkers, who would otherwise engage in the sport, and the public will feel somewhat relieved.

The recent decision of the Supreme Court, declaring the present law protecting trade-marks to be unconstitutional, has caused a flurry among many branches of business, but the impression which seems to prevail that no such protection can be given by the Government is a hasty conclusion, and the Supreme Court evidently does not intend that any such inference is to be drawn. Attorney General Devens gives it as his opinion that without any further amendment to the Constitution Congress can pass a law which will hold.
The fault with the present one seems to be in its form and detail merely, which can easily be rectified.

The political circles of New York have been set in a whirl by the open charge made by the Republican press that a de-falcation of $11,000 had been discovered in the office of the Democratic Treasurer of the State. After a tardy silence the Democrats have found their tongue and inform the public that all there is to it is that in adjusting the books for the incoming Republican management, several "slight irregularities" have been found, involving the employment of individual checks as cash to the extent of $5,000, and that Mackin, the Treasurer, caused these to be collected, and the cash balance straightened out. It appears to be an easy way to smooth over a forced plea of guilt, but why don't the retiring Democratic managers keep up their reform cry, and push the offenders to conviction and punishment. One cannot help wondering whether this deficit would have been discovered and made right, if the books were not going into more honest hands.

THE CANAL.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Senor Thomas De Franco, agent of certain French capitalists in connection with the inter oceanic canal scheme, arrived in Washington last evening, and to-day, in company with Admiral Ammen and Mr. Menocal, his assistant, paid his respects to the President.
The President expressed a very warm interest in the enterprise, and said that he hoped to see it well under way before he retired from office.

GRANT AND THE CANAL.

The Talk About the Presidency of Nicaraguan Canal—Conflicting Reports.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—M. De Franco reached Washington last night for the purpose of consulting with Admiral Ammen and others concerning the contemplated Nicaraguan Canal project. De Franco represents the European stockholders, about $30,000,000 of money, which he says can be increased to double that amount if necessary. He said to-day that the offer of the Presidency of the contemplated Nicaraguan Canal Company had been made to General Grant, and would probably be accepted by him.

In the course of a conversation M. De Franco said the only sensible thing for Grant to do was to accept the position. He said De Franco, "said no further political prestige by running a third time for President. He could probably say that he could have had the nomination had he desired it and worked for it, and whatever glory attaches to that will be his. Now, then, the position we offer him," continued De Franco, "is one of vast responsibility, of care, distinction, and of great wealth, and will probably last him all his lifetime, or for a long series of years. He will make as much money for many years as he would for four years in the Presidency.
He would be constantly before the world in a very honorable and influential character, and he would go down to posterity with a double immortality. First, his political fame as President and General, and second, as the inspiring principal and director of a great National project.

GALENA, Nov. 25.—It is not true that General Grant has written to Admiral Ammen, agreeing to accept the Presidency of the Nicaraguan Canal Company. Nothing is true that this position has been directly tendered to General Grant. The latter is now deeply interested in the enterprise, as he was during his last Presidential term, when the survey was made. The General is in no hurry to commit himself in favor of the project, and the people may rest assured that he will not do so until he finds, on thorough examination, that it is practicable. The enterprise is just now getting considerable cheap notoriety by having Grant's name mentioned in connection with it.

WISCONSIN RAILWAYS.

The Annual Report of the Railway Commissioner.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 25.—Advanced sheets of the Railroad Commissioner's report show the following in regard to the annual doing of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad Company: Total income earnings, including elevators, $8,910-323.82; operating expenses excluding taxes, $4,794,966.72; excess of income, $4,115-366.10; interest and exchange, premium on bonds, etc., $740,633.77; interest accrued during the year on funded debt, $2,449-443.19; on other debt, none; dividend declared on preferred stock, $359,563.89; on common stock, none; back taxes, United States Government, etc., $36,594.34; Sinking Fund paid, $55,000; balance for the year, September 30, 1879, surplus, $540-251.25; capital stock—common stock, $15-443.25; preferred stock, $12,279,483; total capital stock, $27,683,744. Amount per mile of road, $13,352. The total number of miles of road, including proprietary and leased lines, 2,353 divided as follows: Wisconsin, 529; Illinois, 173; Iowa, 667; Minnesota, 517; and Dakota, 38. This amount is materially increased in Dakota by the extension of the Company's lines since September 30, the date of their report to the Railroad Commissioner. It is shown that of all the passengers carried by the road during the year not a single one was killed or injured.

SURRENDERED.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 25.—Robert Madden, Jack Madden, William Crowley, Michael Tobin, Frank O'Hara, Thomas Barry and Mike McCrow, the young men charged with having murdered Hermann Meiser at the Sunday night dance room in Krueger's saloon, in the Town of Granville, all came into the city to-day and surrendered themselves to Sheriff Van Vleet. They were permitted to give bonds for their appearance at the preliminary examination to be held in the Municipal Court, and returned home this afternoon.

EMBEZZLEMENT.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 25.—C. S. Moran, a drummer for the wholesale liquor house of Mayor Black, was arrested to-day on a charge of embezzlement preferred against him by the Mayor. It is said that Moran got on a drunk in Minnesota and squandered his collections as fast as they were made. Mayor Black is out about $400 through Moran's weakness and proposes to make an example of him.

VETERINARY DEPARTMENT.

WM. HORNE, M. D., V. S., Manager

Devoted Exclusively to Diseases of Live Stock, Treatment and Care. Questions Relating to the Aliments of Live Stock Freely and Plainly Answered in this Department of the Gazette.

DISEASES OF THE HORSE, CAUSES AND REMEDIES—NO. 15—CURB.

The set of curb is immediately behind the hock of the hind leg and consists of a sprain of the posterior ligament, and is known by an enlargement of varying size, from two inches to five inches and it differs also as much in prominence as in length. Sometimes being quite small and inconspicuous—at other times it is very large and unsightly, making in appearance, a deformed leg. Not always does the lameness correspond to the size of the curb. Often, I have known animals with a very minute enlargement to be excessively lame, and vice versa, while again I have had patients with large, white curbs which were only slightly lame. It would appear as though size did not govern the intensity of the lamenesses caused. But as a rule, a large curb is accompanied with severe lameness, caused by excessive pain.
Curb—Curb usually is the result of severe strain upon that portion of the hock. Jumping when at large in the field or yard. Heavy strain from any cause, or violence from whutever source, may cause the sprain and enlargement termed curb. A most fruitful cause of curb is backing a heavy load.
This calls into play every fiber of every kind and nature in the hock of the horse.
Pulling up short, suddenly, is another common cause of curb. Above all other causes, in fact the true parent of curb is hereditary predisposition in the horse, shown and known by the peculiar bent hind leg, which horsemen term cow hock, the true name would be curly-backed.
While hundreds of horses with straight legs are subjected to very hard work indeed, causing severe strain upon the hock joint without any serious injury, animals with crooked hind legs would throw out a curb, and might suffer in several other ways. Such being the truth, though sometimes a crooked legged horse may do lots of hard work and throw out a curb, yet this would be the exception, it is self-manifest that all cow hocked horses should be rejected, as totally unfit to be ridden from; and, as work animals, liable at any time to become crippled by curb &c.
A man who propagates either a curly hock, or animals with any other defect, does harm to the community at large, and ought to receive the just condemnation of honest, sensible men.

Remedy—The very moment a horse limps behind, or seems tender and not behind the point of the hock, accompanied by the slightest enlargement at the point already indicated, he has a curb. Now, just now, is the time to apply a remedy. Cut off the hair close and apply cooling applications of any kind, or apply infusion of hops for a day or two, anything, in fact, that suits the owner that will be likely to subdue the inflammation; and just as soon as this is done, mix one dram (1) of iodine with one of clean, unsalted lard, and well rub in this the first application. Then gently apply, twice a day for two or three days. Or, if preferred, or more convenient baster either with warm blaster, or butter, or mercury ointment. Baste three or four times. Then keep the part covered daily with hops lard. Lard also below the curb, to prevent it from becoming sore with what leaks out of it when unbasted. A high healed shoe should always be backed on if the curb is a severe one, which must be removed as soon as the intensity of the tenderness and lameness disappears. One thing must be attended to, viz: a horse with a curb of any kind is not fit to work, and it is a crime to attempt to work a poor horse who is the subject of one. A true man's gratitude towards his intelligent friend and servant should deter him from any act of cruelty towards him. Nothing more to my opinion, in the treatment of a man's brutishness or gentleness than his treatment of all dumb animals under his care.

Trotter's, Ogden house block.

By the use of Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites the nerves become reinforced in strength, the stomach is made capable of digesting the food, the food changes to blood, the heart becomes strengthened to pump the blood, the lungs distribute and oxidize the blood, healthy blood displace unhealthy muscle and tuberculous matter, and the patient becomes vigorous, and then by using his constitution as intended by a benign Creator, he may live up to the ripe old age, when like the corn ready for harvest he drops from the husk.

as a curative agent is its composition, after years of scientific plodding, of materials calculated to harden the gums, remove the septic acid, and avoid putrefaction.

A Case of Hydrothorax Cured.

DEBAND, Wis., May 31, 1879.

Messrs. SETH W. FOWLE & SONS: Gentlemen:—It is now over nineteen years ago that my attention was directed to your highly valuable PLEURIVIA SYRUP, which at that time was, I believe, the means of saving the health, and probably the life, of a young lady who was said by her physicians to have symptoms of hydrothorax, (dropsy of the chest,) from which disease her brother had lately died. She married at the age of nineteen, and for a long time had been unable to ascend a flight of stairs without stopping to take breath once or twice during the ascent, or indeed to take any active exercise without distress. She took the PLEURIVIA SYRUP for six weeks, when all the before mentioned symptoms disappeared and have not since returned.
This case occurred in Potsdam, N. Y., in 1860.

right side of the scene which was the wrong side. They did not like the title.

Another play of Labiche's there was that scene where the owner of a lost chapeau was to be recognized by the name of it, which was to be solemnly pronounced at the crisis of the performance. Labiche saw a happy opportunity to pay off the batter's bill for a year by introducing the batter's name and giving him a box for the first performance.

Unhappily, he had counted without his host—that is to say, his collaborator—who also had a batter and a batter's bill, and eagerly seized the opportunity of paying off the batter by pulling the former; so when the curtain drew up there were the batters of the two authors in opposite boxes, each wondering what the other was doing there, but none the less pleased that his rival should be present at his triumph.

The critical moment came—the hat was picked up—the actor read out the batter's name.

It was another batter's name.

The actor had a list and a batter's bill of his own.

It was from this circumstance that the proverb "As mad as a batter" took its rise.

Trained Fire-Engine Horses.

From the Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

One of the city horses that usually runs with a steamer is sick, and is not on fire duty at present. When the department left the city Monday evening at 10 o'clock of fire, this horse was left hitched in the stable alone. The Bates street side door was open, and the horse broke his testicles in a few minutes following the firemen. He came up with one pair of horses and found that his mate was not one of the lot, so he galloped down Washington street until he found the span in which his mate was hitched. He quietly looked up the side of the other horse and remained by his side until the team re-entered the stable. It is related of "Old Tiger," a city horse, who formerly was working in the department, that while striving the Street Commissioner on some lonely road in the suburbs, he would frequently prick up his ears and start for the city without any apparent reason.

When they neared the city, the driver heard the fire alarm whistles and bells, which had reached the horses ears when not a sound came to him. It was only that "Old Tiger" knew what he was about that he was allowed a free rein to do as he pleased generally.

The Old Couple's Thawing.

From the New Haven Register.

"Thanksgiving ain't of much account nowadays" remarked Mr. Smiley, respectively. "Nothing to wait they used to be.

Let's see, twenty-seven years ago this coming Thanksgiving Day, Hannah, was married. It don't seem that long.

Does it, honey?" and he poked the old lame in the ribs with his cane. "There, that will do, I habed; you've made me drop two stitches. Yes, it was twenty seven years ago, when we was young and fair and handsome, but now we are old and wrinkled." "Ah, yes, but the years hasn't struck through to our hearts yet, have they dear?" and the old gentleman looked through his spectacles he saw a big, round, red rolling down Hannah's face. It was more than he could stand and he hobbled out to throw a little corn to the turkeys.

CLINTON.

—We are in receipt of a notice of the death of A M Dutcher, of Fulton, Ill., at the residence of his son, E W Dutcher, he died November 21, at the ripe age of 71 years. Mr E W Dutcher will be remembered as a clerk and telegraph operator in the office at this station some 30 years ago.

—H Pierce, Esq has again entered the arena as a buyer and shipper of live stock, since which pork has advanced about 25 cents per hundred pounds. Surely opposition is the spice of business.

—D G Marsh is nursing a sprained ankle.

—S M Guest is confined to his house by illness.

—The Methodist Vestry is now nearly completed, and will be a valuable improvement for the West end of the church and is 22 by 32 feet in dimensions.

—R L Colvin, of the Gazette, passed through Clinton on his way to Michigan last week, and he time to "shake" with many Clinton friends.

—The company running the new hay press have contracted for about 500 tons of hay and are running day and night to keep out of the way of those who are hauling it.

—Numerous are the boxes of new goods being opened at Covert and Chace's.

—There are indications of burglars in our vicinity, as tools have been appropriated.

—The last sale of cheese for the season has been made by the Clinton factory, and amounted to about $2,300, which encourages us to think that better days are in store for dairymen.

—Mrs. Farrer, of Racine, who has been visiting her old-time friends here of late, has returned home.

—Lewis Wells and family spent the Sabbath in Clinton.

—Rev. Mr. Dyer, of Sharon, visited his brother, E. P. Dyer, last week, and remained over Sunday.

—The question is being discussed in our town, whether Julius was honest in his financial transactions, and likewise whether Julius was honest in his religious life, and whether he was honest in his political life.

—M. G. Weaver and F. Wright both have lady visitors at their house, and all is well.

A Fatal Shirt Button.

The death is announced at Heidelberg, of Dr. Adolph Sander, who was formerly a large practice as a physician in Heidelberg and its neighborhood. One morning in 1874, while dressing, he counted in some way to get a shirt button between his teeth. Unconsciously, while laughing, the button slipped into the back of his mouth, and thence into the larynx. All the exertions of his surgical friends to remove it were in vain. It was ascertained that it was in the right lung, which soon became irritated. Sputum of blood ensued, and he was himself looking forward to his death as not very remote. He removed to a villa near Frankfurt on the Main to pass his last days in quiet. He was attacked by a violent fit of coughing, accompanied by spitting of blood, in a paroxysm of which the button was ejected. His health rapidly improved, and in a few months, regarding himself as quite cured, he resumed his professional work, and endeavored to gather up the threads of his former practice. But last year, untimely attacks of pneumonia manifested themselves that he did not quite fully recovered from the pressure in his substance of a foreign body for several months. He spent the winter in the south of Europe, but returned sick and worse than he went. He gradually grew away, and sank a few days ago.

The Professor and His Double.

From the London Telegraph, Nov. 11.

Those curious personal resemblances which are not uncommon have given rise to the popular belief that every man has his double somewhere in the world, and a superstition exists in Germany to the effect that he whom ill-luck shall bring into contact with his "Doppelgänger" will do well to prepare himself for death, as such a meeting portends a proximate passage over the Stygian ferry to both parties concerned. It appears that the double of an eminent Professor of Physiology at the Berlin University is a hair dresser, whose shop is situated in the immediate neighborhood of that institution, and who, well aware of his likeness to the learned doctor, carefully copied the latter in dress, bearing and demeanor. A few days ago the Professor was walking homeward from his lecture room when a gentleman, entirely unknown to him, stopped him in the street, and said, "Follow me to my house. I want you to cut my hair."

The amiable Professor, one of whose principles of life it has always been never to withhold from a fellow creature any service that it might be within his power to render, meekly accompanied the stranger home, and there, addressing himself to the task thus imperatively prescribed to him, forlorn of professional scissors, he picked up a pair of shears, used for cutting paper, from a writing table in the dressing room to which he was conducted, and, with this implement, proceeded most conscientiously to cut the victim's hair down to the very roots. When he had cleared about half the skull of his hirsute covering, he accidentally struck the point of the shears into the scalp of his patient, who, springing to his feet in great pain and wrath, exclaimed: "See! the case was just you are who? Do you call your cut a hair cutter?" "A hair-cutter?" replied the astonished sage, "certainly not. I am only Prof. B., very much at your service, as you perceive."

Poison Pastry.

New York, November 24.—This morning another case of life poisoning came to light. Sunday Stephen Mulvey and his family partook freely of lemon meringue pie. The family were taken ill during the ensuing night, with evident symptoms of poisoning in each case. It is not probable that any of them will die, but their sufferings are great. The other case alluded to was that of the family of George Wheeler, consisting of his wife daughter and niece. Mr. Wheeler died Saturday. His daughter, Julia, is very low, but there is hope of her ultimate recovery. Schoenkel, the baker, from whom the pies in both cases of alleged poisoning are said to have been bought, most emphatically denied having used or had on the premises such a thing as a copper pan for baking pies or for any purpose whatever.

Artificial Lumber.

The versatile ingenuity of a Western inventor, who doubtless forces the time in the far-distant future when the forest shall cease to clothe the hills and dales, and the demands for lumber shall prove vastly in excess of the supply, has succeeded in devising a substitute for the natural product of virgin or the cultivated soil. His plan is to use that fragile vegetable, straw, and by a peculiar process to compress it into a substance as hard and indestructible as oak lumber. It is claimed that this process converts what straw into timber which is susceptible of as fine a polish and as mahogany and black walnut, at a cost not in excess of that of the best clear pine. The straw is first manufactured by the ordinary paper mill process into raw-bark, and a sufficient number of sheets of this of the right size are taken to make the required timber. They are soaked and softened in a chemical solution, which is, of course, the inventor's secret. After the fibers of the pasteboard is sufficiently estimated, the pile of sheets is pressed between a series of rollers which consolidate them so that when dry the whole is a hard stick. It is claimed that the process renders this wood substitute impervious to water, and the chemicals used are such as to make it fire-proof. But the sanguine inventor has only made samples thus far.

A Quickened Conscience.

From the Burlington, Vt. Free Press, Nov. 21.

About two years ago, the buildings of a person residing in a town some forty-five miles from Montpelier were damaged by fire to the amount of $150, and clothing to the amount of $50 was burned. They were insured in the Farmers' Mutual, and the case was duly settled, and no more thought of it. On Friday last the person drove to Montpelier, appeared before the insurance company and gave himself up, stating that he had made a false statement of the loss sustained by the fire, and that he set the fire himself to raise money to make a payment on his place. He had recently experienced a religious revival, and his mind could not rest until he made a clean disclosure of the whole thing to the company and settled for the same. Although a poor man, with a large family to support, he had come all this distance to give himself up to the hands of the law. The matter was satisfactorily adjusted, and he departed for home a happier man.
